

We wish that your first impression of us could have been in person. If we were sitting next to each other you could look at us and know instantly that we are loving parents, and that we strive to be the best parents we possibly can be. We are goofy, sarcastic, active, stubborn, caring, and laid back. This is, without a doubt, the most important letter we have ever written. We are grateful you have chosen to read it.

Matt and I are hoping to once again adopt because we very much want a larger family. Matt is the oldest of 3 and I am the youngest of 5 (and the only girl). Matt is silly and outgoing. He's also patient, understanding, and a good provider for our family. He's a Union Boilermaker and loves working with his hands. I have a Bachelor's Degree from Murray State in Human Resourcing and stay at home to raise both of the kids - Matt and Cohen :) Matt says I am honest, kind, organized, and caring. Our personalities work well together, like the Yin and the Yang, and we will work hard to use our traits to help raise our kids as well as we can.

We were very fortunate in our adoption of Cohen. The birthmother allowed us to be a part of the ultrasounds, doctors appointments, and even the delivery. We have been in his life since before birth, and we are unbelievably grateful to his birth mom for that opportunity. Cohen is a very happy kid. He smiles and everyone around him just melts. He's adorable and Matt says he's going to be a lady killer. I say not until he's at least 30 :)

Our hope is that we will be blessed enough to eventually have 3-4 kids. Cohen is very loving toward other kids and we think he's going to be a great older brother. Some things Matt, Cohen and I enjoy are going to the park, going to the zoo, taking the dogs for walks, swimming, visiting friends and family, and traveling. We'll eventually do board games, puzzles, and read together. Cohen has helped bring joy to not only our lives, but also the lives of everyone he meets. We are more of a family now, and I know that if we are able to expand we will feel even more complete.

With warmest regards,

Matt, Nicole, & Cohen
