

Chaz & Stephanie

Dear Expectant Mother,

The decisions you are making right now are the most courageous and selfless decisions anyone can make. Remember that you are Strong, and God will let you know who is right to parent your future child. Thank you for considering us, and taking the time to read our letter.

When Stephanie was 19 years old she found out from numerous doctors that she may never be able to conceive a child of her own. It's heartbreaking to learn that at such a young age. She went through treatments, medications, surgeries, and negative tests galore. Only to find out after years of doctor visits and different diagnosis' that she does not produce eggs or ovulate. After 5 years of trying, she felt God was calling her to be a mother, through adoption. Chaz was 100% on board, since his mother was adopted as well. So, here we are starting our journey.

About us:

We met in high school (2007). We love telling our love story but it's much too long to type and more exciting to tell in person. We were married in 2015, on Valentine's Day; our wedding was small but so beautiful. Chaz is a former Platoon Sergeant for the United States Marine Corps, now a veteran. He went to school for his CDL and presently he works as a local truck driver in our town. His hobbies include: video gaming, being a handy man, playing basketball and watching superhero movies. Stephanie went to school for Art, but currently works as a certified tax professional/accountant. She plans to become a stay at home mom once the opportunity arises. Her hobbies include: arts and crafts, makeup, and caring for others. Together we enjoy going on walks with our dogs, bowling, spending time with our family and trying new fun things. We are a Christian couple and attend a Baptist church near our home. We believe God brought us to adoption, through infertility.
